

The perfect small business partner.

As a small businessperson, your biggest concern is keeping track of your money at all times. And if you're smart, you don't try to do it alone. You get a computer for a partner. But which one?

Well, if you're anything like the 35,000 first-time computer users we know, you'll choose the Wang 2200. Why? Simply because Wang has years of problem solving experience with all kinds of small businesses. So even though it's the first time you've faced the problems you're facing, it's not the first time for us.

The 2200 is as simple to use as a typewriter, even for people who've never seen a computer before. It can handle everything from accounts receivable to accounts payable. Payroll to purchasing. And it lets you combine words with numbers from a single workstation, so you can send out personalized business correspondence.

The world's best-selling word processing.

It's also the only computer that offers Wang word processing: #1 in the world. It lets you create any kind of letter, memo, or form in less time and with greater accuracy than a typewriter. And since it fits right into your way of doing business, you won't have to change a thing.

The Wang 2200 isn't expensive. And since it's designed to expand as your business expands, you don't have to worry about protecting your initial investment. It's no wonder more and more people are choosing the Wang 2200 as a small business partner: it carries its weight without asking to have its name put on the door.
